

1. System indication -

- On the Admin page, the system updates us how many users with Admin permission exist
- The number of employees with accounts in the system is given on the PIM page
- Likewise, on the Leave page, the number of employees who left is given
- There is no bar with buttons, for example a notification button that updates in real time, etc

2. Compatibility between the system and the real world -

- It is not possible to change languages on the page and accordingly also the structure of the site to the left: Arabic, Hebrew on the right side versus English on the left side
- On most social networking platforms the search field is up in the middle or in the corners
- Access to the settings is made possible by a button located in the extreme corner on the right/left depending on the language
- The bar contains all the things required for the site's requirements

3. User control and freedom of action -

- You can create accounts and also remove accounts (Admin)
- There is no back button that allows us to go back to one previous action, but only the bar that moves between different pages
- Details can be updated

4. Consistency and standards -

- The use of colors on the site are similar to other sites like Facebook, clean blue, YouTube red, etc.

5. Prevention of mistakes -

- It is not possible to create a user for a new employee without filling in a full name
- There are certain privileges that are intended only for the Admin type user such as adding employees and removing employees and more..
- Access to the account settings requires entering a username and password again

6. Identification and not memory -

- All operations are the same for new and old users

7. Flexibility and efficiency of use -

- There is no difference in the structure of the site between a new user and a veteran

8. Minimal and aesthetic design -

- As far as the button casing and more are concerned, there are colors that are comfortable for the eyes, neither too bright nor too dark, easy to look at

9. Help in identifying, analyzing and recovering from mistakes -

- You can create a user and delete if necessary
- In the search field, when you do not enter anything and click search, a warning appears
- In the first name field, when no details are entered and you try to create a user, a warning appears below the field
- When entering the site, it is necessary to enter details, if the details are incorrect, the site will not be entered
- and if we created a user and entered incorrect details, it can be edited and corrected

10. Help and documentation –

- There are no bots for quick answer questions
- There is no help guide for navigating the site when creating a new user